

More Honors for Live Stock.

Didsbury Captures Fourteen Prizes and a Grand Championship at Red Deer.

Didsbury will soon be known as "the prize town of Alberta," thanks to our live stock men. At the Red Deer fair held last week no less than fourteen awards were given to exhibits emanating from this district.

M. Weber exhibited two Holstein cows, one bull, one two-year-old, one yearling, and one calf, winning first prize for dairy cow, first for dry cow, third for bull, and third for three get of one sire. Not satisfied with this bunch, he reached out and secured with his dairy cow the grand championship.

Other local men included among the prize winners comprised Brennan Bros., who startled the Red Deerites by getting among their grade cattle and winning three firsts two seconds, and three thirds. A first and second in the heifer class went to John Leisemer and Lloyd Manhard respectively, the latter also taking a first for his yearling bull.

This success is the more creditable inasmuch as it was gained in face of keen competition from prize cattle sent from Edmonton and points as far east as Manitoba.

Furnace for the High School.

At a meeting of the School Trustees on Monday of last week, W.H. Broughton, of the Institute of Technology, Calgary, was present and gave the Trustees the benefit of his experience relative to heating the school buildings. As the result of his advice, and the discussion that followed, it was decided to instal a furnace in the high school.

Shooting Season Opens September 15th

Sportsmen who have been accustomed to get out to the country Sunday evening in order to be on the ground for the opening of the shooting season on the following Monday morning, will be handicapped this year as compared to last year as the 1925 season opens September 15, which is Tuesday.

According to a circular issued by the game branch of the department of agriculture, that department will in future receive shipments of furs from residents of the province and sell them by public auction. Sales will be held weekly. This is intended to aid fur hunters who have not many furs to ship. The circular states that sales of beaver pelts and pelts belonging to the government have been carried on for some years with such success that the same methods will be followed in conducting future sales. Hungarian partridge may be hunted as far south as the South

Saskatchewan river this year. Last season the northern boundary was the Blindman's river. The reason given for the extension of the boundary is that these birds are increasing so fast.

Burnside

Born—to Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dyck, on Monday August 7th, a daughter.

Former residents of our district who came down from B. C. on the harvest excursions included Messrs. Roy and Leon Doll, Tony Hobenshield and Duff Stanley.

Mr. John Davidson of Morkerville, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Ed. Anderson, has returned to his home accompanied by his brother Joe, who will spend a couple of months with relatives there.

Mr. Robert Spraggs arrived home from Nanton last week and will spend the harvest at his old home here.

"God Gives the Seed--the Bread We Need, Man's Labor Must Provide It."

Upper—The old method of reaping the crop. Lower—The modern method. Inset—Testing grain at elevators in Winnipeg.

It is estimated that sixty-nine thousand harvesters will be needed to garner the crops in Western Canada this year. Of this number probably nineteen thousand will be supplied by the Western and prairie provinces leaving fifty thousand to be recruited in the East.

This is an unusually large number. It means that from all parts of Eastern Canada a great army of Canadian men must be mobilized to harvest the grain upon which the general prosperity of the country depends. The famous gold rush of 'ninety-eight held no greater touch of glamour and romance than this annual exodus to the wheat fields of the west. From office, factory and college our young men and old men, and some of our women too, are preparing to enlist in the great adventure from which all hope to return hardy, bronzed and with a swollen savings account.

The railway companies are fully prepared for the rush. Their Colonist cars of the newest, most serviceable and comfortable type, of which they have a greater supply on hand than ever before, are in readiness and there is more than enough motive power available for immediate service.

The Colonist car has kept pace with the remainder of railway equipment in the march of progress. In the olden days many prospective harvesters remained at home because of the stories they heard of hardships and discomfort endured on the journey to the wheat-fields. Now, however, all that is changed. Colonist cars differ only in trifling details from the standard sleeping cars and they leave nothing to be desired in points of comfort, security and convenience.

There is every reason to suppose that the East will raise its quota of fifty thousand men. The inducements are unusually good. A bountiful crop is expected; wages are high and there are unlimited positions available. Many young men attending colleges will avail themselves of the reduced rates to see the country and join in the great adventure of bringing in the sheaves, as the most profitable way of spending a holiday.

The dates for the excursions are, from Quebec, August 14th and 28th; and from Toronto and points in Eastern Ontario, August 18th and September 1st. From Western Ontario the dates are August 21st and September 1st. The rates are the same as last year—to Winnipeg $15.00 and from there to the final destination, half-a-cent a mile. These rates apply equally to women as to men and there are many tired Easterners who will take advantage of the excursions to make their first trip west, as much for the purpose of seeing the scenery "out west" and becoming personally acquainted with the geography and topography of the country as for taking part in the harvesting operations.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree, son of Kazan, a dog, and Gray Wolf, was nearly three weeks old when first he wandered away from home. His first adventure was a fight with an owl, in which both were badly torn and mauled. Growing hungry, he succeeded finally in catching a crayfish in a creek. Soon he came upon Wakayoo, a huge black bear, which puzzled him but which disappeared at his approach. Wandering through the forest Baree grew hungrier. The dog in him wanted to die but the wolf spark burned strong-

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

In the forests as well as in the great cities late plays its changing and whimsical hand. If Baree had dragged himself in the timber half an hour later he would have died. He was too far gone now to hunt for crayfish or kill the weakest bird. But he came just as Sekoosew, the ermine—the most bloodthirsty little pirate of all the wild—was making a kill.

As Baree lay under his tree, Sekoosew was creeping on his prey. His game was a big fat spruce-hen standing under a thicket of black currant bushes. The ears of no living thing could have heard Sekoosew's movement. He was like a shadow—a gray dot here, a flash there, now hidden behind a stick no larger than a man's wrist, appearing for a moment, the next instant gone as completely as if he had not existed. Thus he approached from fifty feet to within three feet of the spruce-hen. That was his favorite striking distance. Unerringly he launched himself at the drowsy partridge's throat, and his needle-like teeth sank through feathers into flesh.

Sekoosew was prepared for what happened then. It always happened when he attacked Napanao, the wood-partridge. Her wings were powerful, and her first instinct when he struck was always that of flight. She rose straight up now with a great thunder of wings. Sekoosew lunged tight, his teeth buried deep in her throat, and his tiny, sharp claws clinging to her like hands. Through the air he whizzed with her, biting deeper and deeper, until a hundred yards from where that terrible death thing had fastened to her throat, Napanao crashed again to earth.

Where she fell was not ten feet from Baree. For a few moments he looked at the struggling mass of feathers in a daze, not quite comprehending that at last food was almost within his reach. Napanao was dying, but she still struggled convulsively with her wings. Baree rose stealthily, and after a moment in which he gathered all his remaining strength, he made a rush for her. His teeth sank into her breast—and not until then did he see Sekoosew. The ermine had raised his head from the death grip at the partridge's throat, and his savage little red eyes glared at a single instant into Baree's. Here was something too big to kill, and with an angry squeak the ermine was gone. Napanao's wings relaxed, and the throbbing went out of her body. She was dead. Baree hung on until he was sure. Then he began his feast.

Baree ate a third of the partridge, and the remaining two-thirds he cached very carefully at the foot of the big spruce. Then he hurried down to the creek for a drink. The world looked very different to him now. After all, one's capacity for happiness depends largely on how deeply one has suffered. One's hard luck and misfortune for the measuring stick for future good luck and fortune. So it was with Baree. Forty-eight hours ago a full stomach would not have made him a tenth part as happy as he was now. Then his greatest longing was for his mother. Since then a still greater yearning had come into his life—for food. In a way it was fortunate for him that he had almost died of exhaustion and starvation, for his experience had helped to make a man of him—or a wolf-dog, just as you are of a mind to put it. He would miss his mother for a long time. But he would never miss her again as he had missed her yesterday, and the day before.

"And Nepeeze, aiming carefully at Baree, pressed steadily with her brown forefinger upon the trigger."

For another day and night Baree remained in the vicinity of his cache. When the last bone was picked, he moved on. He now entered a country where subsistence was no longer a perilous problem for him. It was a lynx country, and where there are lynx, there are also a great many rabbits. When the rabbits thin out, the lynx emigrate to better hunting grounds. As a snowshoe rabbit breeds all the summer through, Baree found himself in a land of plenty.

And this was straight into the trapping country of Pierrot, the half-breed.

Pierrot, until two years ago, had believed himself to be one of the most fortunate men in the big wilderness. That was before La Mort Rouge—the Red Death—came. He was half French, and he had married a Cree chief's daughter, and in their log cabin on the Gray Loon they had lived for many years in great prosperity and happiness. Pierrot was proud of three things in this wild world of his: he was proud of Wyola, his royal-blooded wife; he was proud of his daughter; and he was proud of his reputation as a hunter. Until the Red Death came, life was quite complete for him. It was then—two years ago—that the smallpox killed his princess-wife. He still lived in the little cabin on the Gray Loon, but he was a different Pierrot. The heart was sick in him. It would have died, had it not been for Nepeeze, his daughter. His wife had named her Nepeeze, which means the Willow. Nepeeze had grown up like the willow, slender as a reed, with all her mother's wild beauty, and with a little of the French thrown in. She was sixteen, with great dark, wonderful eyes, and hair so beautiful that an agent from Montreal passing that way had once tried to buy it. It fell in two shining braids, each as big as a man's wrist, almost to her knees. "Non, M'sieu," Pierrot had said, a cold glitter in his eyes as he saw what was in the agent's face. "It is not for barter."

Two days after Baree had entered his trapping ground, Pierrot came in from the forests with a troubled look in his face.

"Something is killing off the young beavers," he explained to Nepeeze, speaking to her in French. "It is a lynx or a wolf. Tomorrow—" He shrugged his thin shoulders, and smiled at her.

"We will go on the hunt," laughed Nepeeze happily, in her soft Cree.

When Pierrot smiled at her like that, and began with "Tomorrow," it always meant that she might go with him on the adventure he was contemplating.

Still another day later, at the end of the afternoon, Baree crossed the Gray Loon on a bridge of driftwood that had wedged between two trees. This was to the north. Just beyond the driftwood bridge there was a small open, and to the edge of this Baree paused to enjoy the last of the setting sun. As he stood motionless and listening, his tall drooping low, his ears alert, his sharp-pointed nose sniffing the new country to the north, there was not a pair of eyes in the forest that would not have taken him for a young wolf.

From behind a clump of young balsams, a hundred yards away, Pierrot and Nepeeze had watched him come over the driftwood bridge. Now was the time, and Pierrot levelled his rifle. It was not until then that Nepeeze touched his arm softly. Her breath came a little excitedly as she whispered:

"Nootawe, let me shoot. I can kill him!"

With a low chuckle Pierrot gave the gun to her. He counted the whelp as already dead. For Nepeeze, at that distance, could send a bullet into an inch square nine times out of ten. And Nepeeze, aiming carefully at Baree, pressed steadily with her brown forefinger upon the trigger.

CHAPTER V.

As the Willow pulled the trigger of her rifle, Baree sprang into the air. He felt the force of the bullet before he heard the report of the gun. It lifted him off his feet, and then sent him rolling over and over as if he had been struck a hideous blow with a club. For a flash he did not feel pain. Then it ran through him like a knife of fire, and with that pain the dog in him rose above the wolf, and he let out a wild cry of puppyish yapping as he rolled and twisted on the ground.

Pierrot and Nepeeze had stepped from behind the balsams, the Willow's beautiful eyes shining with pride at the accuracy of her shot. Instantly she caught her breath. Her brown fingers clutched at the barrel of her rifle. The chuckle of satisfaction died on Pierrot's lips as Baree's cries of pain filled the forest.

"Why do they always call ships 'she'?" I suppose it's because they glide along so gracefully?" "Oh, no; it's because their rigging costs so much, and they go in for sails."

Not Just What He Meant

Colonel Peck Says He is Always Making Breaks

This might be called an anecdote of Field-Marshal Earl Haig or of Colonel Cyrus Peck, or both. The well-known and bluff Canadian Victoria Cross hero acted as chairman for the distinguished soldier, leader of the British forces in the Great War, when the field-marshal addressed a crowded theatre of Victoria war veterans on his plan for amalgamating ex-service men throughout the British empire. At the end of his speech Colonel Peck remarked:

"And there's one other thing. I want you all to be on hand to say adieu to Earl Haig when he leaves Victoria tomorrow afternoon. I know that will be a pleasant duty for all of you."

Earl Haig was the first to seize the joke and lead the laughter.

"I am always making breaks like that," commented the colonel. "You know, someone telephoned me to ask if I would be pallbearer at the funeral of a friend the other day, and I replied that I would be delighted."

Strange Instinct Of Cattle

Why Cows Are Panic Stricken When Attacked By Dogs

Perhaps you have noticed how frightened cows become if a little dog begins to snap at their heels. Now just why do these big creatures become panic stricken and scatter in every direction when any one of them could easily put the dog to flight?

Because at one time all horned cattle were wild and often attacked by ferocious wolves. Although it has been so many hundreds of years, cows still have an instinctive dread of any creature that looks like their ancient enemy.

Japs Like Singing Insects

Crickets and Grasshoppers Sold On Streets of Tokio

Singing insects are now on sale by street vendors along the Ginza, the gay "Main Street" of Tokio. The principal warblers of the insect variety are crickets and long-horned grasshoppers. To the Japanese the "song" of the cricket and the grasshopper lends a peculiar charm to the summer evening.

The diminutive insects are sold in quaint bamboo cages, decorated with silk ribbons. Prices range from fifty sen to as high as twenty-five yen each.

The Many-Purpose Oil.—Both in the house and stable there are scores of uses for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Use it for cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, the pains of rheumatism and sciatica, sore throat and chest. Horses are liable very largely to similar ailments and mishaps as afflict mankind, and are equally amenable to the healing influence of this fine old remedy which has made thousands of firm friends during the past fifty years.

Ethics Code For Motorists

Washington Association Endeavors to Establish Honor System on Roads

A nation-wide canvass of all interests concerned with motoring safety for ideas as to the development of a code of motoring ethics, will be conducted by the American Automobile Association, Washington, preparatory to the appointment of a national committee to draw up such a code.

The purpose of such a code was described by the association as the "establishment of an honor system on the roads," whereby the motorist himself can test the "extent to which he measures up to the responsibility developing on all users of the common highway."

A Remedy for Earache.—To have the earache is to endure torture. The ear is a delicate organ and few care to deal with it, considering it work for a doctor. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil offers a simple remedy. A few drops upon a piece of lint or medicated cotton and placed in the ear will do much in relieving pain.

Very Ancient Cloak

Archaeologists are of the opinion that a woollen cloak, discovered by peat cutters in Gerum Fen, near Skara, Sweden, is one of the oldest ever found in Europe. It was found a few feet under the surface of the peat, but the preserving qualities of the fen water have kept it intact for some 3,000 years. The British Museum possesses fragments of cloth of even earlier date.

The Chinese as a race are said to be the most honest people in the world.

Surgeon's Clever Invention

A young French surgeon of Paris has invented an apparatus, called the episcope, that will enable medical students in an adjoining room to observe every detail of an operation without disturbing either the operating surgeon or the patient. The apparatus, which consists mostly of lights and mirrors, produces an enlarged picture of the operation, and a loud speaker carries the comments of the surgeon.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child they will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the new-born babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Use Geysers For Heating

In Reykjavik, Iceland, the geysers a mile away from the city have long been used for laundry purposes by the Icelanders. But now the enterprising townspeople are going farther. They are planning to pipe the hot water into their houses, and heat the whole town in the most approved style at nature's expense.

Toronto Mother Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a splendid medicine to take before and after confinement. A small book was put in my door one day advertising Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines, and as I did not feel at all well at the time I went and got a bottle of Vegetable Compound right away. I soon began to notice a difference in my general health. I was full of aches and pains at the time and thought I had every complaint going, but I can truthfully say your medicine certainly did me good. I can and will speak highly of it, and I know it will do other women good who are sick and ailing if they will only give it a fair trial. Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills are splendid for constipation. You are welcome to use my letter if you think it will help any one."—Mrs. HARRY WESTWOOD, 543 Quebec Street, Toronto, Ontario.

The expectant mother is wise if she considers carefully this statement of Mrs. Westwood. It is but one of a great many, all telling the same story—beneficial results.

Governor-General Has Returned From North

Was Guest of Missionaries, Traders, Indians and Eskimos

After journeying thousands of miles, which carried him into the farthestmost regions of Canada's northern hinterland, His Excellency Baron Byng, Governor-General of Canada, has returned to civilization.

It was the first time that such a trip had been undertaken by any governor-general of the dominion, and, during the long trip, the party encountered much of the hardship experienced by the scattered population of the north country, obtained a keener appreciation of the vastness and possibilities of the Dominion, and came into personal contact with native Eskimos, Indians and members of missionary and trading outposts.

At Akavik, Baron Byng inspected the principal buildings and chatted with members of the tiny settlement. He visited the outlying regions and stopped at an Eskimo fishing camp near Kittigaruit. The governor-general's appearance was a complete surprise to the natives, but they were equal to the occasion, and after greeting him in their peculiar fashion, they entertained their visitors at a breakfast of fish and tea. Speeches of welcome were delivered, and his excellency was presented with a number of native souvenirs.

On the return journey, stops were made at a number of points.

Accepted Valuable Diamond

Stone Given To Prince Is Probably Worth $10,000

The Prince of Wales has refused a 65 carat diamond in Kimberley, but has accepted one of 12 carats. Even the 12 carat stone is so large that there are few, if any, of that size in Toronto, although they can be obtained, in the regular way, in New York or London. The 65 carat stone, on the other hand, is so large as not to be a commercial proposition—comparing in size, probably, with a twenty-five cent piece. A 2 or 3 carat stone is worth about $500 per carat, but this value increases with the size of the stone, and the one accepted by the Prince would probably be worth $10,000. It would be difficult to value the larger one.—The Toronto Star.

In one hundred years the population of England has grown from eight million to thirty-two million. This is a natural increase, as emigration is greater than immigration in England.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

ANGUST 23

THE MACEDONIAN CALL

Golden Text: Come over into Macedonia, and help us. Acts 16:9.

Lesson: Acts 16:6-15.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 61:8.

The Text Explained and Illumined

Frustrated purposes, verses 6-8.—Paul and Silas and Timothy went through the region of Phrygia and Galatia, thus carrying out their intention of visiting the churches which Paul had founded on his first missionary journey. They planned to go on into the province of Asia on the Aegean Sea. It seemed a most promising field. Here were Ephesus and Smyrna and Laodicea and other teeming cities—great centres of idolatrous worship. Surely they had planned wisely in seeking to win these great centres for Christ. But their plan was frustrated. Without note or comment Luke adds these arresting words: "They are forbidden by the Holy Spirit." "Wherefore they were forbidden he does not say." Chrysostom observes, "but that they were forbidden he does say—teaching us to obey and not ask questions." By a vision or by an inward impression, they were convinced that this was not God's purpose for them.

"What to others are disappointments, are to believers intimations of the way and will of God" (John Newton).

Four Hundred Varieties in Lady Byng's English Gardens

The secret of Lady Byng's decided preference for the great out-of-doors and the beautiful gardens of Canadian houses rather than the formality which marks receptions indoors was revealed during the visit to Victoria of the governor-general of Canada and his popular lady.

Lady Byng is an ardent lover of flowers and a keen gardener. Since she came to Canada she has collected no less than 400 different varieties for the beautiful gardens of her English home. Accompanying the plants to England have gone careful instructions that they are to receive the best of attention. Of the 400, only twelve have failed to thrive after being transported across the Atlantic and transplanted in English soil.

After a person has been struck by lightning without serious injury, queer marks resembling the veins of leaves often appear on their bodies. These are lesions due to the passing of electricity through tissues.

A Rotor Aeroplane

A monoplane flying on the rotor principle and capable of a speed of three hundred miles an hour is the invention credited to an Austrian engineer. The inventor claims his machine will rise almost vertically and will be able to cross the Atlantic in twelve hours. The British air ministry is reported to be interesting itself in the invention and is said to have offered to build an experimental model according to the inventor's specifications.

Lutheran League Holds Rally.

On Sunday of last week, the Walther League Society, of the Westcott Lutheran Church, held its rally at the picnic grounds of the church. Over sixty young people from the Mount Calvary, Jehovah, and Emmanuel congregations, at Calgary, were in attendance. Due to the splendid arrangements made by the Calgary committee, all were able to come by auto.

Regular services were held in the church in the morning, at which the local pastor, Rev. C. Nissen, spoke. Immediately after the services the local leaguers and visitors together with several members of the congregation repaired to the picnic grounds, where dinner was served by the local league. Wholesome games provided entertainment for the afternoon. After supper an inspirational service was held at the grounds, Rev. Lake, of Mount Calvary, Calgary, spoke on the basis of Isaiah 6-8, he pointed out the duties and work of the Walther League, emphasizing bible study and personal work in the Kingdom of God. Well pleased with the service and entertainment provided for by the local league, the guests then departed for their homes.

Sid Watt joined the 41 club last Wednesday, but since then all records have been shattered by Cecil Studer. After a very poor start, Cecil played wonderful golf, making the round in 40 and turned in a card as follows, 5-6-5-5-8-3-3-2, now for new members of the 40 club, or lower.

T. Johnston playing the qualifying round at the Western Canada championship on the Country Club at Calgary on Monday, turned in a card of 92 which is pretty good golf for a beginner.

The fairways have been greatly improved by the donation of marking post by Sid Watt. The nicely painted sand boxes with the yardage marked on them are very ornamental and useful. The total length of the course is 2411 yards and with the present hazards is the making of an ideal course. The club wants more golfers, for membership see J. McGhee or the secretary J. R. Miller.

Great interest was aroused in the Tomb Stone event put on yesterday afternoon.

Passenger traffic over Western Lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway to date this summer has been particularly heavy, and a large number of special trains and special cars being operated for British, Canadian and American tourists. Lake side and summer tourist travel to the annual exhibition at Saskatoon and other Western points required the operation of special trains.

Construction of one of the largest and most modern departmental stores at Winnipeg, Man., by the Hudson's Bay Company will be proceeded with immediately, according to an announcement by Mayor Webb of that city. A start upon the company's building programme here was assured, stated Mayor Webb, with the passing of a by-law by the City Council providing for a memorial boulevard flanking the Hudson's Bay property.

During the first half of August two important Ontario railway towns celebrated their Old Home Week and held pageants illustrative of their local histories and industrial activities. These were North Bay and Smith Falls, both of which held C.P.R. Days and were the meeting points for thousands of railroad men, who assisted in the pioneering work of the districts. The Old Home Week at North Bay marked the graduation of that town to full-fledged cityhood.

Advertising never failed to bring results. Try it.

The funeral in Montreal recently of the late G. M. Bosworth, chairman Canadian Pacific Steamships, was attended by E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and nearly all the directors and executive officers of the company. An impressive and dignified procession followed the ceremony, a cortage being formed by the Company's police and officers and men from the crews of Canadian Pacific steamships.

A party of thirty prominent American society people, scientists and artists succeeded recently in blazing a new passage along the Wolverine pass across the northern Canadian-Pacific Rockies with the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies. The Riders this year have many famous men among them and six separate countries are represented. Twenty of the members wear gold and enamel buttons, showing that they have ridden 2,500 miles along the mountain trails.

"The Bread Basket of the Country"

Upper—Mixed farming scene in Saskatchewan. Left—Sheep on a mixed farm in Alberta. Centre—The Canadian Pacific Supply Farm, at Strathmore, Alta. Bottom—These belong to a wheat farmer who has seen the wisdom of keeping at least enough stock to supply the needs of his household.

That the history of the agricultural adversities in the north-western regions of the United States is full of significance for the farmers of western Canada is shown in an article by Marquis James in a recent edition of the "New York Times." In 1917, 1918 and 1919, writes Mr. James, there were in the Dakotas, Montana and Minnesota, three complete crop failures in succession which had deplorable economic effects and produced something like a panic in the three states primarily concerned. But, continues the writer, this misfortune had one desirable result in that it pointed out to the farmers themselves and to the country at large the value of mixed farming, as compared to the one crop methods which had obtained up to that time. The depression demonstrated the necessity for a change in farming methods and in adopting a policy of more extensive and intensive general or diversified farming. Mr. James believes that the North-western States solved their problems. For a time, says Mr. James, prior to the large successive failures, the wheat growers enjoyed a period of uninterrupted prosperity. They were wheat-growers, but not all of them were farmers. In an official survey by callings of the inhabitants of the bench country, one finds in one township, cobblers, bookkeepers, actresses, a school-teacher, Y.M.C.A. secretaries, dentists, motormen and soda-water dispensers—not pursuing their regular vocations, but farming, or, perhaps, it is better to say, growing wheat. They were making money, too, because from 1912 to 1916 there was a phenomenal rainfall in that western section and the wheat yields were astonishing.

People thought this would last for ever. They even thought the rainfall would last. The story one hears in so many new countries was repeated and believed that the "breaking" and cultivation of the native sod works a permanent increase in the precipitation. Government weather records fail to support this contention. But this and many other things were lost sight of in the heyday of the boom in the United States' Middle West. Land values soared. Everybody had money. Credit was too free. Over expansion followed. Then descended the three crop failures in a row—1917, 1918 and 1919. The previously ample rainfall dropped off and the 100-day farming methods were not equal to the occasion. The country was in a desperate fix. Banks had to lend more money after each failure to enable the farmer to put in another crop in the hope that the proceedings would cover earlier, as well as current loans. The crop of 1920 also failed. Thousands of settlers left and one bank in every three in Montana failed.

The same situation existed in modified form over the Dakotas and Minnesota, but the older localities had reserves to fall back on.

It is easy to be wise after the event and the moral to the above is that there has been a turnover not only in farming methods but in farmers. The 100-day wheat farmer—the dentists and soda clerks—have largely given place to agriculturists of the 365-day a year variety. Wheat is still the main money crop, but it is grown scientifically. Land is summer-fallowed and worked before and after planting. Wheat acreages are everywhere diminishing and crops are rotated and diversified. Rye, millet, alfalfa and flax have been introduced; dairy and beef herds established; poultry, bees and vegetable gardens cultivated. Thus, when wheat fails, as it sometimes must, there is something else to fall back upon. This lesson has not been lost in Canada. Farmers of the Canadian West who are succeeding are in most cases doing so because they have learned the sound economic value of diversified farming as compared to the one-crop method.

"There Is No Argument Against Safety"

One of the busiest sections of the world today, it, indeed, not the busiest, are these traffic provinces of Canada. From early morning until late at night, men and women, too, not by tens of thousands alone but hundreds of thousands, will be engaged in harvesting the great grain crops of the West. Tens of thousands of helpers from Eastern Canada and the Pacific coast are here to help in the huge task. Thousands of horses and millions of dollars worth of machinery are being employed. It is a time of hard work, but it is also a time of satisfaction as the results of a year's toil are garnered.

The very magnitude of the task, and the large numbers of people engaged, call for the taking of precautions against accidents. "Safety First" should be the motto of all. As a writer in the American Red Cross Courier says, there is no argument against safety. No one ever heard of safety filling hospitals or graves, or destroying property, or resulting in loss of any kind. It is the failure to exercise due caution, that causes these disasters.

Not a year passes but the annual Western harvest takes its toll of life, of others crippled and maimed for life, of property destroyed. The practice of "Safety First" will prevent most of these calamities.

Millions of acres of ripened grains and grasses present untold possibilities of loss if every care is not exercised to prevent fires from starting. Once started there is no telling to what awful dimensions they may spread, resulting in loss not only of crops but of homes and other possessions and possibly life itself. It may require a little extra time and labor to take proper precautions, but it is the cheapest possible form of insurance.

Binders, mowers, threshing machine outfits are powerful agents not only for harvest operations, but for cutting off arms and legs if care is not exercised to keep out of the way of such moving machinery. Wherever possible cogwheels, moving belts, knives and gears should be protected, not that they need protection, but because the workers need to be protected from them. It should be borne in mind by the employing farmer that many of his harvest help may have had no previous experience about, or in the handling of machinery.

The straight-thinking man respects safety; he knows its real value. Down through the ages this has been revealed over and over again. It is the fool who rushes in where angels fear to tread, who forges ahead regardless of consequences to himself or his fellowmen. Speed is all right in its place, but its place is not in attempting a level crossing in front of an approaching express train. Nor is it in saving the time necessary to plough a fireguard.

The farmer who at great labor and expense ploughed his fields, sowed seeds, has seen his crop pass safely through all the vicissitudes of weather, insured it against hail, and provided the machinery and help to harvest it, will not now in the final rush of harvest operations, if he is wise, neglect any precaution that can be taken to protect it, or the men harvesting it, from disaster.

But it is not the farmer alone who should give heed to the fact that there is no argument against safety. Several thousand elevators are manned and ready to take in the grain. They will be worked at high pressure, and under such conditions there is always the danger of a lessening of vigilance. It is better to be safe than sorry.

And as the grain is marketed the busy time for the railways and their armies of employees is reached. Weeks have been spent in putting roadbed, motive power, rolling stock into first-class shape to meet the strain. The number of trains moving day and night will be largely increased. Railway managements fully recognize the importance of always applying Safety First principles. So do trainmen. But at no time is it more important that such principles be rigidly adhered to and enforced through the voluntary co-operation of each individual than when all are working at high pressure and carrying a peak load.

An old Chinese proverb says: "To save one man's life is better than to build a seven-storied pagoda."

Remarkable Fire Extinguisher

Tanks Loaded With Carbon-Dioxide Gas Literally Freeze Flames

Fire extinguishers that will literally freeze a fire to death, while covering the burning area with a dense gas, which bars all air and oxygen on which the flames might feed, have been devised for fighting switchboard fires, and also for oil tankers and other ships where fires in the cargo hold present a serious problem. The extinguishers, which are merely tanks loaded with the carbon-dioxide gas (such as is used at soda fountains to carbonate the water) eliminate the water damage which forms one of the greatest losses in ordinary fire fighting.

Trans-Atlantic Air Service

London to New York in 38 Hours is Plan

Plans for a trans-Atlantic aeroplane service, using double decker planes with accommodation for 150 passengers and capable of making the run from London to New York in 38 hours, have been announced by Joseph Navarro, veteran British aircraft designer. According to the designer, the planes will have a wing spread of 185 feet. They will be equipped with nine 450 horsepower engines each, and will provide spacious accommodation for passengers.

The fare for a single trip will be about 55 pounds sterling per passenger.

Cannot Ask Fancy Prices

Court in Potsdam Fined Guide For Overcharging Tourist

Six dollars is too much for any guide to charge for taking tourists through Sans Souci Castle and other sights of Potsdam, in the opinion of the court of appeals. Guides for tourists are not a luxury, as held by the lower court whose decision was reversed, but a daily necessity, and therefore cannot command fancy prices.

The case arose out of a difference some months ago between a party of Englishmen and a Potsdam guide named Max Schulz. The guide had charged 25 marks for taking the party around, whereupon the Englishmen appealed to the courts. The lower court believed that anybody who can afford a guide is rich enough to pay whatever the guide may charge. The state's attorney held, however, that Germany, and especially Potsdam, have every reason to encourage the travelling public, and that overcharges like these were calculated to make people shun Potsdam, thereby ruining its tourist business.

The higher court agreed with the state's attorney, reversed the decision and assessed a fine of 20 marks.

Travelled Twenty-eight Miles

Mouse Had Long Run Through Peculiar Accident

A very strange accident befell a mouse in a New England household. A boy hung his bicycle from the ceiling of the cellar, not far from a swinging shelf on which food was kept. A mouse jumped from the wall to the tire of the front wheel, evidently hoping thereby to reach the shelf.

The wheel started, and the mouse naturally ran toward the highest part of it. It was able to stay on the top of the tire, but could not get enough of a foothold to jump to the wall. When found the next morning, it was very much exhausted, though still running. The cyclometer showed that it had travelled more than twenty-eight miles.

Poland Evicting Germans

Great Misery and Distress Prevails in Refugee Camp

Heartrending scenes are being witnessed in the great camp established to receive the thousands of Germans Poland has ordered to cross her borders back into their homeland, because in the Upper Silesian plebiscite of 1920 they favored retention of the territory by Germany.

Great misery prevails among its repatriated Germans, men, women and children, most of whom are in dire distress and impoverished by reason of the fact that all their possessions have vanished.

Added to their misery is the fact that the refugees' camp is already overcrowded. A second camp must be erected somewhere else if Poland should make good her threat of forcible eviction.

It will be almost impossible to provide homes for the repatriated as there already is a dearth of dwelling buildings throughout the country.

Indian Race Not Dying Out

Forty-three Thousand Live on Their Own Farms

Lovers of the Indian—and the number of them increases as we study him dispassionately and review the history of our dealings with him—will be glad to know that he is not vanishing but gaining. The full-bloods are holding their own, and those of mixed blood are increasing at the rate of a thousand a year. Forty-three thousand live on their own farms, and western banks hold $35,000,000 of Indian money. Of eighty thousand Indian children of school age, sixty-five thousand are in school—a larger proportion than among white children. So the outlook for the boy who goes west to exterminate the redskins is most unpromising.—Youth's Companion.

The X-ray is used in examining unopened oysters in pearl fisheries. This is a very economical proceeding, for oysters which are found by the X-ray to be without pearls may be returned to their beds unopened, in the hope that they may later produce pearls.

BLEMISHES OF THE SKIN

Are Proof the Blood is in a Weak and Watery Condition

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order are the pimples and unsightly eruptions that break out on the face or body. The same condition is indicated by an attack of eczema or scrofula. You cannot get rid of these troubles by the use of purgative medicines, as so many people try to do. Purgatives merely gallop through the system and leave it still weaker. What is needed when the blood is shown to be out of order is a tonic which will restore its missing elements and leave the blood rich and red. For this purpose there is no other tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, every dose of which helps enrich the blood, drives out impurities, and brings a new feeling of health and energy. Mrs. R. E. Bishop, Hawthorne Ave., Hamilton, Ont., tells for the benefit of others what these pills did for her. She says:—"I was suffering terribly from scrofula. I doctored with several doctors, but without success. My complexion was sallow, I had no strength, feeling very weak and languid. My neck was full of lumps called scrofula, and at times they were very painful. After trying several so-called blood medicines, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me and I got half a dozen boxes. After taking them I found a decided improvement in my appearance, and to my joy the lumps were disappearing from my neck. I persevered in the treatment, and finally the only sign left of the trouble was a scar on my neck where one of the swellings broke. Since that time I have been in robust health and heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any suffering from impure blood."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HAVE REACHED AGREEMENT ON SECURITY PACT

London.—Another step toward the security pact which Western Europe likely will pin its hope upon for peace in the future was taken when the French and British foreign ministers reached a common agreement on the reply France is to make to the last German note concerning treaties of mutual guarantee and arbitration.

Having settled these points, Foreign Minister Briand and Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, took advantage of their conference in London to exchange views on the security pact. Exactly what their views are on this subject only they know, but the foreign office issued a statement saying their meeting had "sensitively improved prospects" for conversations taking place in the near future which will lead to a final result.

These conversations, of course, are to be between the statesmen of the allied nations and those of Germany, and a beginning likely will be made next time the German ambassador to the British Isles calls on Mr. Chamberlain in Downing Street.

Australia Benefits From Preference

British Government Pursuing Policy Of Assistance to Producers

London.—Australia is reaping the largest benefits from imperial preference granted by the Baldwin Government as was generally predicted when they were introduced.

The London Times cable from Adelaide quotes the Australian minister for markets as stating that according to the latest estimate, Australia is benefitting under the imperial preference scheme to the extent of £850,000 in the current year on suetanas, sugar, wines and currants. Efforts are also being made to arrange a preference with New Zealand while the Canadian preference will come into operation shortly.

The government is vigorously pursuing a policy of assistance to producers in the effective marketing overseas of their surplus products and over £200,000 has already been advanced to help them with their present crops. The general outlook for producers is more hopeful for many years to come.

Troops Removed From Nova Scotia

Sent to Colliery Districts After Riot Last June

Halifax, N.S.—The thousand or more troops which have been stationed in Cape Breton, from various parts of Canada since the middle of June, have been removed. The troops were sent to the colliery districts after the New Waterford riot of June 11, when one man was killed and numbers injured, and which was followed by looting and the burning of British Empire Steel Corporation stores.

The cost of transporting the troops and maintaining them from June 12 to August 8, was $325,000, according to figures furnished by the department of national defence, given to the attorney-general at his request, by Major-General Thacker, officer in command of district number six. The figures are an estimate based on an average daily cost of $4,224, plus $80,000 for transportation to and from Cape Breton.

Cut Alberta Coal Order

Toronto.—It is expected the experimental shipment of 25,000 tons of coal from Alberta mines to Ontario will be reduced by 5,000 tons. The time limit for the special rate allowed by the railways on this coal expired August 15. Hon. Charles McRea, minister of mines, stated that half the shipment had been received and loadings now in the west or enroute would increase the total to 20,000 tons.

Cattle Awards At Vancouver

Saskatchewan Man Well Up With Exhibit of Ayrshires

Vancouver.—J. D. McGregor, of Brandon, Man., had things pretty much his own way in the various classes of Aberdeen Angus cattle judged at the Vancouver fair, winning the senior and grand championship in the bull class with Permit 9th. Queen Quail carried off the senior female and grand championship, and Blue Lady of Glencarnock was awarded the junior reserve female championship. Besides these honors, the McGregor entries captured seven first and seven second and third place ribbons.

W. H. Morton and Sons, of Fairlight, Sask., while not capturing a first, had 21 entries which finished second or third in the Ayrshire classes.

Amos and Black, of Moffat, Ont., captured the female championship for Shorthorns with Maxwellton Rosemary, and five firsts, five seconds and five third place ribbons in this class.

Japanese Captain Flouts B.C. Officers

Informed Vessel Was Under Seizure But Put to Sea

Victoria.—Ignoring the demands of Marshal W. H. Goggin of the British Columbia division of the admiralty court that she was under seizure in connection with sinking of the tug Hustler in Vancouver harbor, the Japanese freighter Kaikyū Maru put to sea.

Acting on instructions from Vancouver, the marshal awaited the arrival of the vessel off Victoria where she dropped her Vancouver pilot. The Japanese captain, after some discussion, promised to bring his vessel into the Royal Roads, but refused to permit the marshal to go aboard. When the pilot was dropped, the Japanese freighter headed out to sea, leaving the marshal and his aide floundering in an open boat in a stiff breeze off shore.

No Foundation For Report

Government Not Bringing 10,000 Ukrainian Settlers Into Canada

Vancouver.—Emphatic denial of the report that the Dominion Government contemplates bringing 10,000 Ukrainian settlers into Canada, was contained in a letter from W. J. Egan, deputy minister of immigration at Ottawa, and read at a meeting of the Vancouver police commissioners.

The letter was in reply to a resolution passed by police commissioners of Trail, B.C., which the Vancouver commission was asked to endorse, protesting against wholesale importation of Central Europeans.

The report had no foundation in fact, and may have arisen, said the letter, from the fact that the immigration department is planning to place a number of Ukrainians on the land in different parts of Canada.

Investigating Rust Resisting Wheat

Find of Dakota Man Only Resists Certain Strains

Regina.—Commenting upon the report that R. S. McFadden, of Aberdeen, S.D., has produced a wheat that is rust resistant, Hon. C. M. Hamilton, minister of agriculture, says: "Saskatchewan University, under the direction of Dr. Thompson, has been experimenting in crossing hard red spring wheat with Emmer or Speltz and the early crossings were found to be resistant against certain strains of rust but did not stand up against certain other strains of rust. The investigation is going on and no doubt the discovery of Mr. McFadden will be carefully inquired into. Fortunately there is reciprocity in these matters."

May Visit Canada

Toronto.—The Telegram says that Premier Baldwin of Great Britain will pay a visit to Canada this fall, according to a prominent local citizen who has been in communication with Mr. Baldwin.

Cables have said the prime minister and his wife would probably be in the Dominion next year.

Schools, theatres and churches in Frankfurt, Germany, were closed recently by a widespread Hicough epidemic.

COMMITTEE HAS REPORTED ON CATTLE POOL

Regina.—A federation of livestock associations rather than a cattle pool along the lines of a grain pool is the recommendation for Saskatchewan by the special committee of enquiry appointed by the agricultural interests of the province to probe this subject some months ago.

That a cattle pool for Saskatchewan in the sense that grain is pooled is not possible, and that any attempt to organize on that plan could only lead to disappointment is the unanimous opinion of the committee, as set forth in its report made public by George F. Edwards, president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association and chairman of the investigation board of which the enquiry committee was a sub-committee.

The committee of enquiry came into existence by reason of a resolution passed at the last convention of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association calling upon the central executive to enquire into the whole question of a cattle pool. Under this authority, the executive of the association, last March, called a meeting of agricultural interests, which meeting formed an investigation board and appointed a sub-committee to investigate the feasibility of a cattle pool, composed of the following well known agriculturalists and cattle men: Hon. George Langley, vice-president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association; Edward Evans, general manager of the South Saskatchewan Stockyards, Ltd.; Moose Jaw; R. A. Wright, president of the Saskatchewan livestock board, with W. Waldron, acting provincial markets commissioner, department of agriculture, as secretary.

Canadian Official Dies In Hong Kong

Commissioner of Immigration Has Been In China Since 1923

Ottawa.—Joseph E. Featherston, Canadian commissioner of Chinese immigration at Hong Kong and former civil servant of this city, died in Hong Kong, aged 45, according to word received by the department of immigration. He was born at Brampton, Ont. Mr. Featherston left for China in 1923. He entered the civil service in 1905 and was at various times secretary to Hon. Frank Oliver, Hon. J. A. Calder and Hon. Charles Stewart.

Canada Pays Large Loan

Is Only One of Four Coming Due This Year

Ottawa.—Canada has paid off a loan of £5,000,000 due in London on Aug. 12.

Three further loans are due by Canada within the next few months. On the fifteenth of next month a loan for $90,000,000 will fall due in New York; while an additional loan is payable here and in New York for $8,000,000 on November 15 next. The sum of $42,000,000 of the first war loan floated by Sir Thomas White is due in December.

No Advance News About Wheat Pool

Ontario Minister of Agriculture Just Guessing Said MacPhail

Winnipeg.—A recent interview given out in the east by Hon. Manning Doherty, president of the central selling agency of the prairie wheat pools, who was here attending the regular monthly meeting of the organization.

He termed Mr. Doherty's statements with regard to the amount the wheat pool would pay the western farmer in the 1924 crop as "pure guess work."

"Up to date," he said, "no one has been informed by us in advance of any of our proposed payments. Personally, I do not think that I will be in a position to make a statement on the matter before I return to Regina."

Manning Doherty, former minister of agriculture in Ontario, in an interview at Toronto, said members of last year's wheat pool in Western Canada would be able to defray a good part of their threshing costs this year by means of a further 10-cent payment on the 1924 crop, to be made probably in September. Mr. Doherty had just returned from a tour of the west.

Mr. Doherty, in his interview, also predicted a wheat crop for the west this year of between 350,000,000 and 400,000,000 bushels, which is some 25,000,000 bushels in excess of the latest estimate of the Dominion bureau of statistics.

Passes New Tariff Act

German Duties Will Restrict United States Exports to Country

Berlin.—The new tariff act, which was passed without amendment by the Reichstag provides for conspicuously high rates on foodstuffs and various categories of industrial products, including automobiles.

The new duties are intended to curtail United States exports to Germany. It is indicated in official quarters, however, that the new rate represents maximums which are to constitute the basis for subsequent negotiations, and that in the case of the food duties, for instance, the ministry of agriculture is empowered to alter them in order to secure reciprocal treatment with nations with which Germany has not yet concluded treaties.

Protest Against Rates

Associated Fruit Growers of B.C. Allege Unjust Discrimination

Ottawa.—Unjust discrimination in respect to the rates on shipments of apples from Vernon and Okanagan, B.C., to the chief points on the prairies, as against those on shipments from London and Chatham, Ont., both apple shipping centres, is complained of in a submission filed by the Associated Growers' of British Columbia, Ltd., Vernon, B.C., with the board of railway commissioners, on the question of revision and equalization of the freight rates in Canada.

The British Columbia growers further state they are handicapped as regards the freight rates charged on potatoes shipped by them.

Frontier Closed

Belgrade.—The Jugo-Slav Government has ordered the Greek frontier closed because of reports of an outbreak of plague in Piraeus.

STRIKE IN PEKIN MAY BE EXTENDED TO BRITISH BANKS

Peking.—Chinese Christians are trying to concentrate in one institution all the British mission schools in Peking under native teachers and lay clergy. The Anglican and London missions probably will not be able to resume in September. Similar efforts in the provinces are affecting other foreign missions. The British legation strike is serious as the water supply is cut off. Fewer than a third of the staff of 300 remain at their posts.

The British charge d'affaires has visited the foreign office. He consulted the police but the police were not able to stop the picketing. The students are preparing to extend the strike to British banks, business, etc.

The Chinese are reported to be contemplating direct appeal to the signatory powers to request a tariff conference to authorize the utilization of additional revenue for the replacement of certain taxes and for construction work owing to a report that the powers insist on the redemption of unsecured foreign loans. Opposition to the conference is increasing unless treaty revision is included.

Large Sum Needed To Complete B.C. Road

Would Take $1,750,000 to Extend Railway to Prince George

Victoria.—If the British Columbia legislature decides to complete the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to Prince George it must be prepared to spend about $1,750,000 on the project, according to estimates completed a short time ago, Premier Oliver announced on his return here from an inspection of the government-owned railway.

"The railway itself is in pretty good condition, although it needs a good deal of ballasting work, and the replacements will be heavy," the premier said.

He refused to discuss the government's attitude on the proposal that the legislature authorize the completion of the railway into Prince George at the next session. It is understood, however, that the cabinet will consider it carefully before the house meets.

Aviators Have Narrow Escape

Flying Over English Bay When Plane Took Fire

Vancouver.—Extinguishing a fire which burst out while they were flying at a height of several thousand feet, Squadron Leader J. H. Tudhope, Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, of Newark, N.J., and Sergt. Perry had a narrow escape from serious injury and possible death.

The flight had been specially arranged for Dr. Hoffman, who is touring the United States and Canada investigating aviation insurance conditions.

Fire started when the connecting rod of the engine broke. Sergt. Perry immediately set in motion the fire fighting apparatus, and Major Tudhope toppled to the water below.

Little damage was done to the plane.

Many will recall a landslide which took place at Yoho, near Banff, a short time ago, and we now hear that Percy Seal, formerly employed at the local C. P. R. depot, was occupying a room at the depot at Yoho when the slide occurred. Hearing a rumbling noise and suspecting its cause, he promptly vacated and had barely escaped when his room was taken completely away. The section house, from which fortunately the only occupant also escaped, shared the same fate as the portion of the depot.

After a spell of unusually hot weather (and possibly irritated by the uncomplimentary remarks of dusty motorists) the weatherman turned a complete somersault on Friday and soaked the country through and through—four days of it in fact. Enough and to spare. However the rain appears to have had no injurious effect as far as the harvesting is concerned, and reports handed in at the Pioneer Office state that green feed has been improved immensely.
